Minority Rule?

Dear Editor,

WNTC recently had two shows on Paul McCartney's strange disappearance, the possible significance of their album covers and inserts, and the connection of the Beatles to the Sharon Tate murder. These shows had a large following in my hall; much more than the regular programming usually had. Still, it was announced that no additional programs would be aired, because of "higher authority". This "higher authority", I believe, is stopping a desired program for unknown reasons. Shouldn't the interest of the minority rule, and more programs continue?

Sincerely,
Dave Leper
